Keane, Untitled II

Ya chewed me up and ya spat me out The foolish boy that I am So I chose to wander and ramble around And make myself a man I thought the world could be changed by A good song and smile But it's been this way such a long time So maybe Im wrong So long ago it must be You're still the one that's troubling me And still so far, so far away I sat with a tear in my hand on a day so long ago Inside I am an ogre With the simple thoughts of a child I say what I think and I need to be loved But I guess that's not your style So long ago it must be That you're still the one that's troubling me nd still so far, so far away I sat with a tear in my hand on a day so long ago