Keaton Henson, Kronos

I've been looking for you all year long Just to tell me I have not been wrong Is this all that you can give me back? Come on, woman, you'll have to do worse than that

And now I see that waking everyday Always leads straight to feeling this way And if you've no more to say than that Oh well, I'll be leaving and I won't come back

I'd give you all I have If I could get it back This has been the best of me I hope you end up missing me And I'll hold on to that And I'll hold on to that And I'll hold on to that

Is the water dragging at your feet Urging you to slip down underneath? Are you gonna let me take your soul? My god, you really are, I'm gonna eat you whole You son of a bitch Stop writing songs like this You think you're better than them But they don't have to pretend

I'd give you all I have If I could get it back This has been the best of me I hope you end up missing me And I'll hold on to that And I'll hold on to that
