Kill Hannah, The Songs That Saved My Life

Turn up the radio I need it now more that ever It's the first snow of the year And something in the atmosphere is comming here Froze our memories again Soon you'll forget but i just can't I remember I remember everything All the times when no one ever came to get me All the nights when i was scared And whe it got to weird It was the song that saved me I remember, remember everything All the tracks that shaped and changed me Inside of speeding cars And lying on your floor When we were living in a broken world We turned it up and the we watched the city burn I remember, remeber everything All the times when no one ever came to get me All the nights when i was scared And when it got too weird And i can't forget And i can't forget And i won't forget Froze in our memories again Soon you'll forget but i just can't
