

Kiros, Just 13

when we were just 13 we were told what to believe in it didn't matter to us what we were seen as but then at 17 we cared about being seen and we lost the freedom of our youth cause when we were kids nothing could go wrong and everything was fun cause we all just got along the world was open wide we had our hopes and dreams now it's all falling apart at the seams as we keep getting older this world keeps getting colder we tried our best but they gave us the cold shoulder things aren't the way they used to be i'm oppressed for what i believe ignorance will never see don't you see that i'm not really ready yet just let me stay right where i am cause im still just a boy in the body in the body of man
