

Kitty Wells, Woman Never Forgets

Tie a string around your finger leave a note upon your desk

Don't forget little things that happened to bring you happiness

It doesn't matter if you're rich or poor just remember the one you adore

So hold her and tell her you love her if you're the man that remembers her

A woman never forgets all the little things you do

A woman never forgets all the mem'ries you bring her

It doesn't matter if you're rich or poor just remember the one you adore

[piano]

A woman never forgets...

So hold her and tell her you love her if you're the man that remembers her
