

Krabathor, Without The Followin' Dawn

I want to fall asleep without the fear of the dawn for others to come for a moments of a hopeless has the deep sleep already came?

the dead faint already has killin' your fragile soul will devour the followin' dawn all the days are opened by a midnight and not accompanied by a kidness suckin' my blood tiringly brain dreams and innocence

has the deep sleep already came?
the dead faint already has
killin' your fragile soul
will devour the followin' dawn

my shadow at the edge of the rock is blinded by a hatred and shut down into a circle of fear by a madness of a others

has the deep sleep already came?
the dead faint already has
killin' your fragile soul
will devour the followin' dawn