Krister Linder, I Love You

i know you and the force that emanates from you i know you and the vibe i get with you i love you i go both high and low with you i love you everything expands with you from dusk 'til dawn through blazing storm our love endures i love you i journey heights and depths with you i love you i'm dreaming life and death with you our souls may strive through countless lives but neither time nor space can leave a trace upon the light in your eyes

i love you though not a thing is ever what it seems though caught and caged in a self-made maze though eternity is vast and i'm lost and cold though all is made anew just to grow old