Kygo, Freedom (ft. Zak Abel)

I was living a lie living a lie this is my confession I was living a lie before we met there were so many nights so many nights full of dark temptation there were so many nights that I regret you give me something that I can hold onto a little light when I am down on my knees I was so lost on myself when I found you but lin that moment you made me believe you give me freedom, freedom freedom I've been looking for freedom, freedom is you
