Kyuss, Day One

Don't be sad for what will never be Be glad you didn't have to see This time became a part of me And now this burning memory

The sun will break the night till dawn And then we'll tell some tales again And when the time has come and gone The wind will carry on and on The wind will carry on and on The wind will carry on and on