

Lacuna Coil, Save Me

Save me from myself
I can't help it, I'm breaking down
Save me from myself
I could use your faith right now

My skin is crawling and feel this pressure
Rushing from the inside out
I am lost right now
My mind is racing
Inside I'm cursing
Burning in my darkest thoughts again

So I keep asking myself
(Will I) Will I be strong enough to face this mess?
(So I) Stand here begging for help
(We are) The only humans walking through this hell

Save me from myself
I could use you faith, I'm breaking down

Depressed and hopeless
And held in despair
Don't know how to find a way to release myself
I'm going crazy
So close to getting out
Lies beneath, feels like it used to be

So I keep asking myself
(Will I) Will I be strong enough to face this mess?
(So I) Stand here begging for help
(We are) The only humans walking through this hell

And what remains is the shadow of my past
I look in the mirror and hate what I see
I don't recognise my face anymore
And wonder where all of my dreams are gone
Feeling lost and empty
I know I can't turn back time
But I just don't want to give up
I can't give up

Save me from myself
I could use you faith, I'm breaking down

So I keep asking myself
(Will I) Will I be strong enough to face this mess?
(So I) Stand here begging for help
(We are) The only humans walking through this hell