

Laura Branigan, Tenderness

(Jack White/Mark Spiro/Laura Branigan)

I don't know who to turn to
Looks don't look like they used to Everything that I try
Turns from good to goodbye
I don't know who to turn to
My heart longs for another
One on one with each other
Deep down inside of me
It's so, so easy to see

I want a little tenderness
I need a little honesty
Looking for the open heart
Openin' his arms to me
I wanna fall in love again
To find the love I've never known
I need a little tenderness of my own

I've had just too much of
Of these users using up my love
Deep down inside of me
It's so, so easy to see

I want a little tenderness
I need a little honesty
Looking for the open heart
Openin' his arms to me
I wanna fall in love again
To find the love I've never known
I need a little tenderness of my own