

Leah Andreone, Hate You Didn't Try

If I close my eyes
I can still see me in your eyes
If I hold my breath
I can breathe just like you
But for me
It's a momentary flight

The life you took was mine
We can't be happy all the time
Out of sight but you haunt my mind
I need a remedy to kill the pain
I hate you didn't try

You made love on an overdose
And now I'm left to cope
You carved I love you in my hands
A scarlet letter drenched in your blood

The life you took was mine
We can't be happy all the time
Out of sight but you haunt my mind
I need a remedy to kill the pain
I hate you didn't try

Since you left
I sleep in the clothes that you wore
Forget I'm alive
And I wait for you at the door
So tired of blue
But I think I see you in the clouds

The life you took was mine
We can't be happy all the time
Out of sight but you haunt my mind
I need a remedy to kill the pain
Kill the pain

The life you took was mine
You can't be happy all the time
Out of sight but you haunt my mind
I need a remedy to kill the pain
I hate you didn't try
