

Leaves' Eyes, Leaves' Eyes

Summer goes, winter comes.
Leaves fall on frozen grounds.
True love lasts forever,
I imagine you in a thousand glimpses.

Moonlight, you keep me safe at night,
And I know you're here if I fall.

Seasons change, spirits wake up.
Birds fly away to far-away homes.
True love lasts forever,
I imagine you in a thousand glimpses.

Moonlight, you keep me safe at night,
And I know you're here if I fall.
Starlight, show me the way in the dark,
And I know you're here when I call.

Leaves' eyes.
Leaves' eyes.

Children grow up,
Parents grow old,
Man's wives become mothers to sons.
Sunna hides,
Mani glows,
Stars are watching over us.

Moonlight, you keep me safe at night,
And I know you're here if I fall.
Starlight, show me the way in the dark,
And I know you're here when I call.
