

Leaves' Eyes, Senses Capture

Shadows in my room staring at me,
Half open eyes not daring to see.
My mouth is sealed, not able to speak,
This ray of moonlight glancing through me.

Do I believe in wonders?
Do I believe in dreams?
Have I been touched by spirits
Finding me when I'm asleep?
The melody of mermaids keeps me awake at night,
The eyes of starlit heavens following me secretly.

Senses capture,
My senses capture me,
The melody of mermaids keeps me awake at night,
The eyes of starlit heavens following me secretly.

Shadows on the wall moving towards me,
Wide open windows closing by the wind.
My palms are wet, not able to move,
The sound of voices humming in my ear.

Do I believe in wonders?
Do I believe in dreams?
Have I been touched by spirits
Finding me when I'm asleep?
The melody of mermaids keeps me awake at night,
The eyes of starlit heavens following me secretly.

Senses capture,
My senses capture me,
The melody of mermaids keeps me awake at night,
The eyes of starlit heavens following me secretly.

My senses capture me,
My eyes fail to see.
I smell the winter come and go,
I hear the migrants leave.
Emotions capture me,
My mind stops to feel,
My lips move without sense,
I feel the words are on your way.

Do I believe in wonders?
Do I believe in dreams?
Have I been touched by spirits
Finding me when I'm asleep?
The melody of mermaids keeps me awake at night,
The eyes of starlit heavens following me secretly.

Senses capture,
My senses capture me,
The melody of mermaids keeps me awake at night,
The eyes of starlit heavens following me secretly.

Senses capture,
My senses capture me,
The melody of mermaids keeps me awake at night,
The eyes of starlit heavens following me secretly.
