

LÉON, Pretty Boy

He said "come on, what you waiting for?" I think I'd waited a lifetime

Right up until that point

Oh-oh

Oh pretty boy, who held the world in his hands Swear I had gone anywhere, everywhere
To stay drunk on that face

Now we're strangers in a bar Who'll be the first to go Time flies, a life unfolds

My reflection's saying different But my memories don't feel old I just wanna know

Hey, where you been all this time If the end is near

We better make it count Thought I'd lost you back then In a different life

Oh, I knew it then and there You'd live forever in my mind My mind, oh my mind

For all of my life

All my life

Oh my, my mind

Oh my mind

For all of my life

All my life

And so it goes, you can't outrun getting old But that hidden place where hope lives Well, that's the

Oh-oh

And so it goes, when nostalgia takes a hold And when you opened the past up

You know I'd never say no

Now we're strangers in a bar Who'll be the first to go Time flies, a life unfolds

My reflection's saying different But my memories don't feel old I just wanna know

Hey, where you been all this time If the end is near

We better make it count Thought I'd lost you back then In a different life

Oh, I knew it then and there You'd live forever in my mind

My mind, oh my mind For all of my life All my life

Oh my, my mind Oh my mind

For all of my life All my life

So come on (Pretty boy)

What are you waiting for So come on (Pretty boy)

Oh, oh pretty boy

Hey, where you been all this time If the end is near

We better make it count Thought I'd lost you back then In a different life

Oh, I knew it then and there You'd live forever in my mind My mind, oh my mind

For all of my life

All my life

Oh my, my mind

Oh my mind

For all of my life

All my life

All my life
