

Leona Lewis, I Am

I thought the moment I was leaving, barely breathing
Fall to pieces, couldn't face this
Why would I be leaving?
I was believing it's you and me against the world
Not saying I was afraid of you
Won't put the blame on you
But I won't change for you
Just when you thought you dropped me
Gotta drop the news, I'm still existing
I'm still here

I am with or without you
I am, breathing without you
I am somebody without you
I am, I am
I am, I am
I am, I am
Without you

I am free without you
I am stronger without you
Thought I would never rise again
But I am, I am

First steps that I was making on this new planet
Never done, found all I wanted
The world was so forgiving, open hearted
Warm and loving, amazing
I never once regretted it
And brick by brick, I'll rebuild again
All of the mistakes that I made
Finally lead the way to a better place

I am with or without you
I am, breathing without you
I am somebody without you
I am, I am
I am, I am
I am, I am
Without you

I am free without you
I am stronger without you
Thought I would never rise again
But I am, I am

First my remedy, now my poison
Won't get loved until I'm afraid to live
