

Linkin Park, More The Victim

I've listened endlessly to your injury
You wanna talk about your sores
You wanna talk about suffering
Maybe sympathy it's all you're really hungry for Cause you just criticize and you fingerpoint
And you say that they put you down
You maybe victimized but you're still the one
Who won't just get up off the ground

I used to be as innocent as you
My excuses ran out, ran out of things to complain about
Fear will always find a way to show
Right through

You want to be more hurt than me
You want to say you're more the victim
You wanna complain and pass the blame
You want to say you're more the victim

You wanna talk constantly about misery
And how you've been done so wrong
You wanna badge your honesty and exaggerate
All the stress that you undergone
There's never a compromise no one can say
That they ever been hurt before
They may be victimized but you'll always say
That you're a victim so much more

I used to be as innocent as you
My excuses ran out, ran out of things to complain about
Fear will always find a way to show
Right through

You want to be more hurt than me
You want to say you're more the victim
You wanna complain and pass the blame
You want to say you're more the victim

You wanna be just, another someone
Somebody angry, somebody broken
You wanna be that, than being all alone

You want to be more hurt than me
You want to say you're more the victim
You wanna complain and pass the blame
You want to say you're more the victim
You want to be more hurt than me
You want to say you're more the victim
You wanna complain and pass the blame
Pass the blame
Pass the blame
