

Linkin Park, Percing in the skin

i look around...

i look around...

i look around and i see myself

i look around and i see myself

im piercing the skin

Chorus

im piercing the skin

one more time, im piercing the skin

its going deeper through the skin

going down, going down

go..in..down!

i turn around and i look at myself i see the blood on the floor i see the cut on my arm

i ask myself why

Chorus

im piercing the skin

one more time, im piercing the skin

its going deeper through the skin

going down, going down

go..in..down!

its hard to find you when your not around i know that your here smiling down you look at me and i look at you but nothing you can say or do compares to the pain that i felt when you said we would go our seperate ways