

Lion's Share, Fall From Grace

we had no warning, now it's too late the earth is trembling, is this our fate how long will it take? before all is lost lost, there's no mistake shall every angel fall we watch them turn into flames into the heat, out of the night no end is yet in sight could it be? it's the end of all light i see them falling all around me scorched by the fire, wings are burning

into the heat, out of the night no end is
yet in sight could it be? it's the end of all light to heaven i gaze the angels are descending and now as they fall from grace we pray and start repenting the heaven i face in awe, they are descending and now as they fall from grace we pray and start repenting i hear the people chanting his name without hope, within the dark no one else to blame all we feel is fear and shame