

Lodovica Comello, Run

run in the movement of your heart that keeps you away and if you stop and stare slow down you're on the right way you're breathless and so weary today your steps are so heavy again but if you look in a different way your life it's a new starting gate you know

run baby around you life
and when you stop here
scream your pain
and don't look back now then go on you can fight then go on and look at the sky

run even when you're standing still when you're crippled by your fears cause it's here the time to turn your page and now don't give away your dreams
but if you look in different way your life
