Before [?], the [?]
In hateful tongues
Lay out the [?] one by one
Forced [forged?] in the [?]
Leprosy [Let them?] [?]
He who waits for the [?]
[?] till the judgement day comes

The immortal question
The cesspool we rest in
The immortal question
When will you learn your fucking lesson?

Immortal, obscurity
In death, was once beauty
Eternal, tyranny
A life of purpose bound to cruelty

The mouth sewn prophets
Bleed from their lips
For the scriptures of serpent skin, they can still run
Unanswered, inside
Empowered, in solace

The immortal question
The cesspool we rest in
The immortal question
When will you learn your fucking lesson?

Immortal, obscurity
In death, was once beauty
Eternal, tyranny
A life of purpose bound to cruelty

The immortal question
The cesspool we rest in
The immortal question
The final breath that slips from your lungs
Is when you learn your lesson

The immortal question
The final breath that slips from your lungs
Is when you learn your lesson

[?] your depression
All of this madness
The scriptures, they will no longer be forced in
And shoved down your throat

Immortal, obscurity
In death, was once beauty
Eternal, tyranny
A life of purpose bound to cruelty

The scriptures, they will, no longer be Forced in, and shoved down your throat
