

Lucky Boys Confusion, Sunday Afternoon (Featur

Sunday afternoon

In a night you won't be perfect you won't be pure
And Monday asking you
Why did you how could you play me for the fool

(Refrain)

Oh, there's no simple answer
Oh, there's no reason at all
Must've been a beautiful daydream, you didn't come home 'til three
Must've been a helluva joyride, you didn't once think of me
Must've been a lot of people saying you took more than you gave
What do you take to take the pain away

I turned to find the truth
The closer I got the farther I got from you
Cause I burned myself on you
How could you why did you play me for the fool

Oh, there's no simple answer
hey, there's no reason at all
Must've been a beautiful daydream, you didn't come home 'til three
Must've been a helluva joyride, you didn't once think of me
Must've been a lot of people saying you took more than you gave
What do you take to take the pain away
And what do you take to make it all go away

You tore every stitch
You bait and you switch
You told me you'd change
You changed everything, everything

(Come chase away the blues from the gloom of my roon)

Oh, there's no simple answer
Oh, there's no reason at all
And I know I got no simple answer
Hey, I'm not blaming you all

Must've been a beautiful daydream, you didn't come home 'til three
Must've been a helluva joyride, you didn't once think of me
Must've been a lot of people saying you took more than you gave

What do you take to take the pain away
What do you take to make it all go away
What do you take to take the pain away
And what do you take to make it all go away

I've heard you having the time of your life
Wish you were here having it with me tonight
Everything will be alright
Come on, come on, help me make it through the night
Oooh Oooh, the time of your life
