Looking for a miracle Waiting for a sun to catch me I've gotta find a way back home Alone alone alone

Hoping for a star to fall Something I can make a wish on Could it be that I'm the fool But aren't we all We all we all

Broken bodies
Scattered through my history
Lonely hours
Leading to my destiny
I'm the one who built the tower
I'm the one who holds the power
So common
Rise up shout it louder
I'm the one who built the tower

Shining in a tiger's eyes Only I can find my future Reading in between the lines I draw my own My own my own

Running down the waterfall Always tried to chase the rainbow Never found a pot of gold Below below below

Broken bodies
Scattered through my history
Lonely hours
Leading to my destiny
I'm the one who built the tower
I'm the one who holds the power
So common
Rise up shout it louder
I'm the one who built the tower

I'm the one who built the I'm the one who built the I'm the one who built the The tower

I'm the one who built the I'm the one who built the I'm the one who built the The tower

Broken bodies Scattered through my history Lonely hours Leading to my destiny

I'm the one who built the tower I'm the one who holds the power So common Rise up shout it louder I'm the one who built the tower

I'm the one who built the I'm the one who built the I'm the one who built the The tower

I'm the one who built the I'm the one who built the I'm the one who built the The tower

I'm the one who built the tower I'm the one who holds the power So common Rise up shout it louder I'm the one who built the tower
