Lush, Runaway

Come on boy, I wanna dance now Line by line we talk all night, yeah Hold me down, I think I'm flying Everybody's eyes are shining Run away to where the world is fine

Hold on boy, you're falling fast now Line by line you go nowhere, yeah Drag me down I feel I'm sinking Can't relate to what you're thinking Run away to where the sun don't shine

Hello, hello, are you still there? You don't answer me 'cause you just don't care Act so young but you look so old And you're too far gone to find your own way home

Life's so hard for you to handle You can't live without your devil Boy, you think that you're so special Well, life is hard for everyone, believe me

Hello, hello, are you still there? You don't answer me 'cause there's no one there Run away from your own sweet soul And you're too far gone to find your own way home

Hello, hello, are you still there? You don't answer me 'cause you just don't care Act so young but you look so old And you're too far gone to find your own way home
