

MAC MILLER, A Celebration of Life

once a day i rise
once a day i fall asleep with you once a day I try. but I can't find a single word I wonder if they knew I wonder if they ever seen cared at all I wonder , do they se their own reflection in the mirror and look away?

everybody is rushing why aren't we taking our time? every now and again, baby, I get high don't ask me what I think It never really mattered what I had to say I just keep waiting for another open door to come out soon I just keep it all in your head the only place that you know nobody ever will see you're running low on the thread no tears, just keeping it real and I think you got it now everybody keeps rushing? why aren't we talking our time every bow and again byaby I get high and everybody needs something when they stuck on your mind bur every now and again, they just getting by

once a day i rise
once a day i fall asleep with you
once a day I try. but I can't find a single word