Macy Gray, Oblivion

it's real sick the state of the world today it's real thick to come up and find a way solution the next time you're alone you can create a world of your own make it magic give it love make it all you're dreaming of everybody in my underwear sometimes I visit there oblivion ignorance is bliss don't know nothing but this oblivion forget bounce from right to left here with the broken hearted let's get this party started lalalalala I eat my marimbas oblivion I tingle when I sing bling bling bling ting ting oblivion forget bounce from right to left here with the broken hearted let's get this party started it's tempting to pack up your throne move in make this magic place your home but nobody else can go you'll be forever all alone forget bounce from right to left no longer broken hearted and I don't know when it started

oblivion