

Magnum, Broken Wheel

You cried all night, it looks like rain upon your face
Come early light, it's time to get back in the race
Now there's no doubt, the world's a cold and lonely place
It sucks you in, chews you up and spits you out
But I know where you've been, that door's easy to walk in

Like a broken wheel stops turning
You ain't going nowhere
Now you've got to heal that burning
Or you ain't got a prayer
Like a broken wheel

You're not alone, someone, somewhere feels just like you
But you don't know, which way to turn or what to do
No need to ask, I'll pull you through these troubled times
So hold on fast, I'll drag you to the finish line
'Cause I know where you've been, that door's easy to walk in

Like a broken wheel stops turning
You ain't going nowhere
Now you've got to heal that burning
Or you ain't got a prayer
Like a broken wheel

Had enough, now your heart's breaking, bad enough you hesitating
Keep your head, you got to stand your ground
A fool for love, you get mistaken, can't forget the hurt you've taken
This old world has really got you down

Like a broken wheel stops turning
You ain't going nowhere
Now you've got to heal that burning
Or you ain't got a prayer
Like a broken wheel
