

Magnum, Invasion

You wouldn't believe your eyes, you wouldn't believe your ears
Out of the dawning skies, suddenly it appeared
I wonder why they're here, do they understand?
Seems they will destroy someone's master plan

Looking across the sea, looking across the land
Wondering what they'll find, wondering what's at hand
Breathing in the air, feel the falling rain
Getting all prepared for the final day

From out of the crimson air, suddenly came the fire
Look at the flaming sky, see how the flames grow higher
Alien, your day, is it not too near?
All the people say let the world be free

Wouldn't believe your eyes, you wouldn't believe your ears
Into the dawning skies, suddenly disappeared
Set their course for mars, leave the world behind
Tracking through the stars, find a different sign