Magnum, Invasion

You wouldn't believe your eyes, you wouldn't believe your ears Out of the dawning skies, suddenly it appeared I wonder why they're here, do they understand? Seems they will destroy someone's master plan

Looking across the sea, looking across the land Wondering what they'll find, wondering what's at hand Breathing in the air, feel the falling rain Getting all prepared for the final day

From out of the crimson air, suddenly came the fire Look at the flaming sky, see how the flames grow higher Alien, your day, is it not too near? All the people say let the world be free

Wouldn't believe your eyes, you wouldn't believe your ears Into the dawning skies, suddenly disappeared Set their course for mars, leave the world behind Tracking through the stars, find a different sign