

Magnum, Red On The Highway

It's red on the highway, diamonds in the sky
A million stilettos cutting tears from your eye
It's peppered with star shell, its pouring silver rain
You're falling like lumber but you're feeling no pain

You can't run
Can't run - can't run away
Can't run - can't run away

There's blood in the river, terror spikes your soul
It's louder than thunder way down deep in this hole
There's a light in the mountain, a fireball in the town
Tornado in the making and a shaking in the ground

You can't run
Can't run - can't run away
Can't run - can't run away

Trapped in the shadows, feeling ragged and torn Radio messages bringing no help at all
There's a light in the mountain, a fireball in the town
Tornado in the making, keeps shaking in the ground

You can't run
Can't run - can't run away
Can't run - can't run away
