Mari, Spell

Spotlight shining brightly on my face I can't see a thing and yet i feel you walking my way Empty stage With nothing but this girl Who's singing this simple melody And wearing her heart on her sleeve And right now I have you For a moment i can tell i've got you Cause your lips don't move And something is happening Cause your eyes tell me the truth I've put a spell over you Beauty emanates from every word that you say And captured the deepest thoughts in the purest and simplest of ways But you see I'm not that graceful Like you Nor am i as eloquent But just a simple melody Can change the way that you see me And right now I have you For a moment i can tell i've got you Cause your lips don't move And something is happening Cause your eyes tell me the truth I've put a spell over you And all my life i've stumbled But up here i am just perfect Perfect as i'll ever be I have you For a moment i can tell i've got you Cause your lips don't move And something is happening Cause your eyes tell me the truth I've put a spell over you

Thanks to dany for these lyrics