

Maroon 5, Infatuation

Baby, I don't want to spend my life on trial
For something that I did not do
Maybe if you stopped and looked around some time
I wouldn't pass right by you

Maybe it's because you are so insecure
Maybe you plain don't care
Maybe it's the chase that really gets me off
Don't force it when it's just not there

Burn another bridge, break another heart
Try again, it will only fall apart

Infatuation
Not seeing the rest of you is getting the best of me
It's such a shame that you shot me down
It would have been nice to be around
I'm touching your skin
If it's only a fantasy, then why is it killing me?
I guess this must be infatuation (I want it...)

Try to put my finger on what burns me up
It always seems to escape me
When you have decided that you've had enough
Just tell me where I need to be

Now I'm facing something that I never had
To ever deal with before
She left me with the feeling that she'd had enough

And I'm the one wanting more

Burn another bridge, break another heart
Try again, it will only fall apart

Infatuation
Not seeing the rest of you is getting the best of me
It's such a shame that you shot me down
It would have been nice to be around
I'm touching your skin
If it's only a fantasy, then why is it killing me?
And I guess this must be infatuation (I want it...)

I'm so attracted to you
The feeling's mutual too
I get scared the moment you leave
Get so hot I forget to breathe, yeh

Infatuation
Not seeing the rest of you is getting the best of me
It's such a shame that you shot me down
Would have been nice to be around
I'm touching your skin
If it's only a fantasy, then why is it killing me?
And I guess this must be infatuation (I want it...)
Ooh (I want it...)
Ooh (I want it...)
Yeh... (I want it...)