Martin Jondo, All I Ever Know

One, Two, Three, Four... And all I ever know is the fight for justice saying All I ever know now is the fight for peace And all I ever know is the fight for justice saying 'Cause all I ever know now is the fight for peace So when them come to your brain Want to drive your insane All dark doubts quarreling in your head Them opress wanna beat you down All them opress wanna beat you down and down but All I ever know is the fight for justice saying All I ever know now is the fight for a peace All I ever know is the fight for justice saying All I ever know now is the fight for a peace Circumstances of today Hardly give you no chance to stay But never lose your faith and run their race Find More lyrics at www.sweetslyrics.com 'Cause this just bearing more evil pain And when it's born then you're all insanse And when it's born then you're all insanse and crying All I ever know is the fight for justice saying All I ever know now is the fight for a peace And all I ever know is the fight for justice saying And all I ever know now is the fight for peace So love and peace be all around us So love and peace chall be all around us now So love and peace chall be all around us Freedom and justice deep within So love and peace chall be all around us freedom and justice deep with, deep with, deep within...