

Mary J. Blige, Everyday It Rains

"(Chorus)

Everyday

Everyday it rains (cause things will never be the same)

it will never be the same

Everyday it rains

Things will never change cause I am not the one to blame

How can I try to make you understand?

That I only living the lie

Cause I have to walk around everyday with out a smile

Everyday it rains (cause things will never be the same)

it will never be the same

Everyday it rains

Things will never change cause I am not the one to blame

Waking every morning knowing your not there

Is the only thing that keeps me scared?

All I do is think of you and all the love we shared

Everyday

It keeps on raining in my life it rains

And Everyday is the same

Baby you brighten up my life

You brighten up my life

So realize

Let it rain on me

Everyday it rains and rains

Things will never be the same

Everyday it rains Things will never change cause

I am not the one to blame

I am not the one to blame just because it rains everyday

Oohhhh

Oh oh

Everyday it rains

Things will never change cause I am not the one to blame

I am not the one to blame

Believe me when I say it that it rains everyday

Got a cloud over me all the time

And I don't know why it rains; it rains and rains

Waking every morning knowing your not there

Is the only thing that keeps me scared?

I don't know when your coming home

But I'll be waiting with open arms

Believe me when it rains it rains for real

Things will never change for I am not the one to blame
