

Matilda, When Something Ends

There's a street somewhere
There's a town out there that gets you
There's a heart somewhere
Seen scars do you have
From heartbreaking, hartace you see
When something ends
When something over
You can't pretend that it's not
When someone's gone
When someone is falling
You keep going on
And you just don't ever look back

There's a key to each heart
There's a key in each part that hurts
There are lines in each face
That are signs from a place where you been burned