

Maya Hawke, Stay open

close the door behind me lock up when I leave
nurse my pride
throw in a please but I'll do anything you ask

things will change
they always do
but my heart will stay open
for you

sorry that u lost your key I am not accustomed to security there's nothing you could promise me that'll let me catch my breath

for you

this cold wind comes quickly through an open door and every blow lands heavy when you want more
but baby, I am ready
whatever's in store
stumble over you fine
falling further every time speak the words
it's in your eyes
then I don't wanna guess

I am not sure we get to choose love can make a child of you but when I try ad tell the truth outcomes our little name

my heart will stay open
for you
for you
