

Merril Bainbridge, When You Call My Name

I'm set adrift with a kiss
In the ocean of your love
You swim to me
Your voice is loud and clear
I've a lifeboat waiting here
You swim to me
Don't you worry now
Angels will fall at your feet
Mountains will slide into the sea
All your stormy clouds will leave
When you call my name
I will be there
When you need my light
I will be there
Through your darkest night
When you call my name
As day returns from the night
We will sail into the light
And we'll be happy
On waves of blue seas of dreams
Places we have never been
and we'll be happy
Don't you worry now
Angels will fall at your feet
Mountains will slide into the sea
All your stormy clouds will leave
When you call my name
I will be there
When you need my light
I will be there
Through your darkest night
When you call my name
And if you feel the world is getting to you
Running through you
And there's a load that's resting on
Your shoulders
And if you feel like there's no other way
You can run
Take my hand we'll sail into the sun
