MICHAEL PATRICK KELLY, Blurry Eyes

I can see a thousand doubts Written on your face right now Your reflection fading in and out Lately it's been getting you down

You tell me you're ok., but your Voice don't match the words you said I hate that you're pushing me away Fighting so hard to take a breath, so...

Love - when the river runs dry It's hard to see thtrough blurry eyes Don't say you're not strong enough To let me love you Just the way you are Love - when the river runs high It's hard for me to watch you cry Don't say you're not strong enough To let me love you Just the way you are

So distant when you're next to me Hiding all I wanna see The silence in teh air we breathe Echoing so hopelessly

I called you yesterday and your voice Didn't match the words you said I hate, you keep pushing me away Fighting so hard not to break, so...

Love - when the river runs dry It's hard to see thtrough blurry eyes Don't say you're not strong enough To let me love you Just the way you are Love - when the river runs high It's hard for me to watch you cry Don't say you're not strong enough To let me love you Just the way you are

All through the highs and the lows When you were drowning in shallow waters I held you close When you feel all alone And it's weighing heavy on your shoulders I hope you'll know

Love - when the river runs dry
It's hard to see thtrough blurry eyes
Don't say you're not strong enough
To let me love you
Just the way you are
Love - when the river runs high
It's hard for me to watch you cry
Don't say you're not strong enough
To let me love you
Just the way you are