

Michał Łapaj, Shattered Memories (feat. Mick Moss)

Is there any way out of here?
We go round and round restlessly
Chasing illusions of control that make us all go numb

So you run through the night alone
Trading courage for disdain
As if you had another life to live
To start again

The world caves in and whereever you go
The walls you've built and the wars you've won
Over and over come up again

Is there any way out of here?
We go round and round restlessly
Chasing illusions of control
That make us all go numb

So you run through the night alone
Trading courage for disdain
As if you had another life to live
To start again

And wherever you go
The same walls come up again
I try to hear your voice from afar
Shattered memories fade away
Shattered memories fade
