

MoonSun, Deep Within

With the night's embrace the cloak falls apart
With its endless lines, the riot has begun
The echoes of our minds are crying in the mud
Can you hear it now, the beating of our hearts

Will there be a fight when we all unite?
Stronger than before, rotten to the core

Time to say farewell
We don't even know how to break the spell
So addicted to the chain
Drowning in the flame

Time to leave this shell
We don't even know how to stand this hell
When the ground is getting thin
Time that we search deep within

With the greatest hope we're running down the lane
With the energy that nothing is in vain
The colours of the mortal world will fade away
Can you see it now, the dawning of the day

Will there be a fight when we all unite?
Stronger than before, rotten to the core

Time to say farewell
We don't even know how to break the spell
So addicted to the chain
Drowning in the flame

Time to leave this shell
We don't even know how to stand this hell
When the ground is getting thin
Time that we search deep within