

My Hotel Year, Sunrise At Sixteen

so where have you gone?
i've been up for hours
it's been six months
since last i saw you

so when will you
return to me?
last night alone
i thought i saw you there so, now that you're gone it's getting colder

so what if you don't come back here soon?
at least i'll have the stars and moon to shine turn it back again (it's all been straight at that) turn it back again (time is at your back) so long, so long, it's getting colder every day