

My Hotel Year, What Color Is Blue

keep it all a little softer save it all up for them it's a virus of the simple it's a virus of the simple sounding nature to keep you from

show me the world that's in your eyes

put it all together
save it all up for them
be soft for nothing lasting simple pulls it so much faster then you can

show me the world that's in your eyes show me all that you've seen i see the blue and greens outside reminding me that the world is still behind me all the way and i see the stars at night and i wonder if they're looking down on who i am or who i used to be and i see the blue and greens and i know that the world is in your eyes