

My Little Airport, my little banana

My little beautiful pretty pretty banana, you are all that I'd like and I want to share you with all my friends.
I just open all your skin then I take a small bite.
Once I have a wonderful dream about you, we were dancing in the sea and the fishes all swimming.
Come with me so I can show you big boat that I built.
Let's go for a ride.
I promise it will fly to the sky where no one cries.
Banana you will see the clouds beneath our feet to the space where twinkle stars saying hello and
Will we see each other any more after ten years?
Why don't you tell me you're falling ill and not happy?
Please stay well and be tasty.
I don't want to see you be grumpy.
Please stay strong and be healthy.
We still have a lot to do like exploring the whole world.
You're the only one can't be replaced.
Hey you, listen, banana you're the best, man!
