

Natalia Lesz, Fall

It's cold today and I am stuck inside
Watching naked trees reach to the sky
For the light they hope is there
Its about to shine and catch them unaware
But just like me they fear the wind
Afraid of the change thats happening
Something is gone something's so new
I can't help myself when I think of you
I fall...

I've got wings to fly I close my eyes and
Fall

Been so long since I have touch the sky at all
You make me remember what it's like
So one more time, I fall...

I am like glass easy to break
So be careful now of what you say
Don't say things you dont really mean
Cuz I am still affraid of shattering
Dont move to fast I am in your hands
If I am gonna take the chance again
Be gentle with me or set me down
Cuz I know that I am about to
Fall...

The snow is only frozen rain
What goes away comes back again
I see the world the world now through your eyes
And all of the colors seem so bright
I won't look back
I won't look down
But if I fall...
Will you be the ground?