

Natalia Safran, Big Wave

What are you gonna do
When truth comes knocking
What will you do
When it comes walking in your door
With the morning

What are you gonna do
When dawn is here
What will you do when it comes clear
That you have fallen
So deep

When you fall
It's like the ground falls out from underneath your feet
when you fall
It's like you're carried by a giant wave
And all else drowns

Come on then
Stop resisting
You know there's no use anyway
Open up
Let it flow right through you
Illuminate everything around

Come on then
You've been found
You can't be saved you know
It's too late
Open up
Let the love rush in like a big wave
It'll be all right

What will you do
When it's discovered
Where you gonna run
When your neat cover's blown to shreds
And you're naked

what's he gonna do
when dusk clears
What will he say
When he comes near enough and sees
The truth in your eyes

When you fall
It's like the ground falls out from
underneath your feet
when you fall
It's like you're carried by a giant wave
And all else drowns

Come on then
You need the waves to lift you up
And carry you away
Open up let them all flow through you
Come undone
Drown the fear rise up

Come on then
Stop resisting
You know there's no use anyway
Open up

Let it flow right through you

Come on then
You've been found
It's too late
Open up
It will be all right
