Nick Cave, Blundertown

Cave Nick Miscellaneous Blundertown Blundertown is drowned in no brainstorm smothered in mud at the foot of the river the color vague is slapped around stupid blood dries to a very dull color

I'm drowning and there is no relief from

It's only 12,000 miles to heaven but the car is broken and we're all well-spoken I've met three people but I don't think they like me and we all talk about the state of the weather

I'm drowning and there is no relief from

And everything I say are my own thoughts Don't listen to my very dull brother

I'm drowning and there is no relief from
