Capers

All words that look prounouncable are not typos, any that look unpronouncable are probably typos.

What has not got my heart in it shall we be dubbed sir names with million blither tongues mounting bristling guilt frames in the fake-ache of the gloomloom slippers slap me alive!
The hours hands down a miracle to spend with ugly types so we can catch and thread a minstrel bleed a tower down to its ankles so we can't go up or stay up find the thumb dumb' in your ear brain Get unfunny! Such as choirs do why the clocklock bought up this one Just when things seem so paperparent like my toothface? Like my out-do?

Oh a streak, O'treacly [not a typo] ink-inks tied my knees all up in elbows erase that lapsing smile tub lose the slip of the small soap-fellows Account the addups till Do-nots are we balanced? we're in business!
Idle tidal, rush in, tried all with a limb's... all legs and armour
I had a dreadful diehood diehard drunken sunken, Monk-heart
Oh I had a Wonderful diehood thanks to my fa. fa. family
