

Nick Cave, Silent Scream

white dress, torture in disguise, pointing flashlight right into my eyes, sharp pain every single night-, every day i fight a hopeless fight i look, over thirty years, ive wished that i was dead somebody help me out, because i'm tied down to my bed.
im looking for someone to release me im waiting for an angel from my dreams im talking to all of you around me im asking you-tell me can u hear my silent scream.
dear god, gave me such a life full of pain, its sharp just like a knife i can think, but i cannot tell, wots life to you, to me is hell i hear the storm outside-first drop just hit the roof id die to see the rain, but i can not, can not move.
im talking to all of you around me
im asking you-tell me can u hear my silent scream.
if living is my cross, so let me die, or crucify me now, but tell me can you hear my silent scream. time stayes still, only i can feel when the darkness will apear everyday, ive wished away, oh please, please take away my pain,
im talking to all of you around me
im asking you-tell me can u hear my silent scream.
yea yea yea yea,
