

Nightwish, Angels Fall First

An angelface smiles to me
Under a headline of tragedy
That smile used to give me warmth Farewell - no words to say beside the cross on your grave and those forever burning candles

Needed elsewhere to remind us of the shortness of our time Tears laid for them Tears of love, tears of fear Bury my dreams, dig up my sorrows Oh, Lord why
the angels fall first

Not relieved by thoughts of Shangri-La Nor enlightened by lessons of Christ
I'll never understand the meaning of the right Ignorance lead me into the light

[Repeat chorus]

Sing me a song of your beauty of your kingdom
Let the melodies of your harps caress those whom we still need

Yesterday we shook hands
My friend
Today a moonbeam lightens my path
My guardian
