Nirvana, Joe Blogg

Fly away into the morning Trying to find some pain I am on the same mountain The place where jesus began. The sun's so low and it's bad to know It'll never come up again Jim still loves death as much As i love this life But my story is closing In front of my own eyes Coz the sun's so low and it's bad to know It'll never come up again